

LAKE HOUSE

A VantageTime test script

INT. MAYA'S APARTMENT - LIVING ROOM - DAY

MAYA (30s, restless) shoves clothes into a duffel bag. DEV (30s, calmer) leans in the doorway, arms crossed.

DEV

You're sure about this?

MAYA

(zipping the bag)

It's one weekend, Dev. Not a witness protection program.

DEV

Your mother called. Twice.

MAYA

(stops)

I'll call her from the car.

She slings the bag over her shoulder and walks past him.

EXT. MAYA'S APARTMENT - DRIVEWAY - DAY

DEV loads the last bag into the trunk of an old sedan. MAYA checks her phone.

MAYA

Forecast says clear all weekend.

DEV

(closing the trunk)

Then nothing's stopping us.

They get in. The car pulls away.

EXT. LAKE HOUSE - DUSK

The sedan pulls up a gravel drive. A modest cabin sits at the edge of a still lake, lit gold by the last light. MAYA gets out first, taking it in.

MAYA

Okay. This was a good idea.

DEV

(grabbing the bags)

Don't sound so surprised.

INT. LAKE HOUSE - KITCHEN - NIGHT

Dishes done, candle lit. MAYA and DEV sit across a small table, wine glasses half full.

DEV

Why didn't you want to tell her?

MAYA

(quiet)

Because if I tell her, it's real. And if it's real, she'll have opinions.

DEV

She always has opinions.

MAYA

(a small laugh)

Yeah. She does.

A long beat. DEV reaches across the table and takes her hand.

DEV

For what it's worth -- I think it's real too.
